

October 19, 2012

To Whom It May Concern:

It pleases me greatly to write this letter of recommendation for Felicia M. Lopes.

I was Felicia's direct "Thought Partner" at Walt Disney Imagineering - Creative Entertainment. She was hired as the Producer/Project Manager of a two-day event – The Walt Disney Theatre Programming Charrette – that occurred in January 2012. The objective was to develop a programming strategy for a 1200 seat theater within the planned Shanghai Disney Resort's Retail, Dining and Entertainment district. The Charrette was succeeded beyond our expectations and all who were in attendance were able to learn an enormous amount from the China based renown producers that she brought on-board to participate in this exciting brainstorming session.

Working with Felicia, as we strategized on the Charrette, was fulfilling in that I found that not only was she focused upon the task at hand, I felt that her professionalism and intellectual zeal for the project was refreshing and created excitement amongst all parties here at Walt Disney Imagineering | Creative Entertainment. Her ability to present her ideas through presentation content, as she tactically gathered information, was quite impressive to me and other significant stakeholders. Additionally, her candor and social ease in establishing working and personal relationships were received wholeheartedly and with much enthusiasm.

As VP, Theatrical Development at The Walt Disney Company I feel that Felicia's work here at WDI|CE was invaluable to our thinking about how to program The Walt Disney Theatre in Shanghai. I feel that she would be an asset and could seamlessly fit into any event producing/coordinating or project management position within your company. I fully endorse her and highly recommend that you consider Ms. Felicia M. Lopes.

Sincerely,

Michael Jung

*Vice President, Theatrical Development
Walt Disney Imagineering*

A large, stylized handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Michael Jung". The signature is written over the typed name and title.